

Playgrounds Are Popular Places For the Summer

Adequate Working Force Now Supplied Under the SERA to Handle Job

Regular business meetings for the workers who are employed at the city playgrounds and in the recreational department will be held weekly at the Recreation center building, on Cabrillo avenue, according to Miss Josephine Odell who is in charge here.

Work at the playgrounds is going forward much more satisfactorily now, since the director has been furnished with plenty of assistants. About 25 persons are now so employed and their work shows in the increased attendance and interest shown by the children.

Sixty Torrance children attended the last weekly beach party, and 31 children from the Pueblo playground attended the beach party given for them on another date. These trips to the beach are regular features of the summer's entertainment and are well patronized. Transportation is furnished by the city which maintains a bus for that purpose.

Many other forms of entertainment are available at the recreation centers, and both adults and children are invited to take advantage of this opportunity for play.

Lomita Band To Have Big Picnic All Day Sunday

Paradise Grove Will Be Scene of Community Celebration

Arrangements are practically completed for the big barbecue picnic and celebration given by the Lomita band, recently organized, which will be held all day Sunday, July 22, at the Paradise Grove at the foot of Pennsylvania avenue.

Festivities will start at 10 o'clock. There will be a band concert, dancing, speeches, barbecue lunch for those who do not bring their own picnic baskets, and the day will be filled from morning to night with a variety of entertainment.

Walter Hagenow, chairman, has been working hard to make the affair a success, and calls on all residents of Lomita to turn out and enjoy the program that has been prepared.

This is the first big affair the band has staged, and will be the forerunner of many others of equal interest.

McClure's Hits Count Five of Bluebird Runs

Big First Sacker Has Good Success Against Long Beach Pitchers

McClure's two homers and a brilliant seven-run inning on Monday night when they downed the Long Beach Admirals for their 17th straight defeat, 7 to 5. Poncho Fabregat was robbed of a homer over the fence after he had smashed one of Dalton's shots over the fence. Poncho scored anyway on McClure's two-base hit so it might as well have been a homer.

The Admirals were leading in the first inning, 3-1, and held the advantage until the fifth. However, after the first inning when Louie Neva walked the first man up and he scored on Edmonson's and Sackett's singles. In the ninth Dalton reached first on an error and Callahan drove him over the plate with a homer.

FANS TAKE A HAND TO SAVE TONY A TIME AT BAT FRIDAY

Fighting Atmosphere and Rag Chews Enliven Ball Game Between Bluebirds and Oilers on Home Lot Friday Night

Even the umpires were fit to be tied Friday night when Spud Murphy's Bluebirds grabbed the victory from Joe Rodgers' Huntington Beach Oilers to the tune of 6 to 3 after the Oilers had them down and rolling in the dust.

Joe and his wrecking crew came to Torrance well primed to give the Birds a sweet pasting in revenge for the horrow some local joker had handed to Joe over the telephone last week.

The joker, so the story goes, represented himself as a "news-paper man" from San Francisco, where he told Joe the fans were famished for a sight of the indoor game as played in the south and that Joe and the Oilers had been selected as the hot shot demonstrators. Joe went for the yarn hook, line and sinker, and only at the end of the conversation when the joker gave a Bronx cheer and hung up did Joe realize that he had been hoaxed to a fare-thee-well. And was he sore.

So on Friday night the Oilers arrived with blue murder in their hearts and prepared to give the Birds the pasting of their lives.

It looked as if they would do it, too, when Louie Neva walked the first man up and he scored in the first inning. Another run in the second had the Birds down, 2-0. Chico Sabella was pitching for the Oilers and making a good job of it most of the time.

However, after the Birds had batted around with no success, the third inning brought the slugger up again and this time they got through to Chico and pasted him three runs. The Oilers, who were in the south and with more which was the sum of their efforts.

For the first six innings excitement ran high with a rag chew following practically every play, which enlivened the fans and kept the players in a sweat. Louie Neva got the Rodgers goat by slipping down to second when nobody was looking which irked Joe so much that Umpire Scott finally had to threaten to fire him from the game and Joe shut up for the rest of the evening.

Poncho Fabregat distinguished himself by uncocking a double, probably due to the excited exhortations of his wife in the stands who saw a chance for "Pop" to be a hero. He paid for it by almost breaking his leg in a slide for the plate a little later. Mery Lower effectively blocked "Pop" off and he was out. It looked as if "Pop" was out of the game too, for he had to be lifted to his feet and half-carried to the dugout. A little massage to the injured leg put him on his feet and he was back in the catcher's box for the next round.

The biggest rag chew of all, in which the fans took part and Umpire Alfich went blue, came when Tony Aliso at bat hit a high foul which hit the electric light wires above his head and dropped down into Lower's mitt.

Umpire called Tony out and he started for the dugout when the fans arose in their might and yelled, "It hit the wire. It hit the wire." Tony stopped halfway to the dugout, the Oilers ran in the Birds swarmed out and surrounded Alfich who gazed up at the wires as if wishing they could talk, shook his head "No" and walked around in circles. The Birds and the Oilers followed him around and the fans kept up the chant, "It hit the wire." Umpire Scott stayed out of the fracas and laughed.

Finally Alfich decided that public opinion was too much for him for he motioned Tony back to the plate and Tony repaid his change of heart with a single.

With the score by this time 6-3 against them, the Oilers seemed to lose heart, for three men on the ground proceeded in the usual manner. Howard Morning replaced Sabella in the box in the eighth.

Experts Pick Bonthron To Win Saturday

Princeton Ace Will Race Jack Lovelock in London Meet

By H. L. PERCY United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON, (U.P.)—Four Americans are in the provisional Oxford and Cambridge University track and field team which meets Princeton and Cornell, on the White City track, here, July 21.

The team is captained by Jack Lovelock, England's fastest miler, and the Americans are: Charles P. Stanwood, of Bowdoin, and Brunswick, Maine; Fenton A. S. Gentry, of University of Virginia, and Chattanooga, Tennessee; Wilson Elkins, of University of Texas, and San Antonio, Texas; and R. B. Greenough, of Amherst, Massachusetts.

British Make Change The British squad is almost exactly as forecast in March. There is only one notable exception, N. P. "Pen" Hollowell, Oxford's star half-miler, of Harvard, and New York, no longer is at the university.

Stanwood is the outstanding member of the team. He is competing in three events, both the hurdles and the high jump. These are the events in which he established an all-time record by winning all three of them in the intervarsity meets in 1933 and 1934.

The feature of the meet, however, will be the mile in which Bill Bonthron, of Princeton, will be running once again against Lovelock. It will be a repetition of their epic encounter at Princeton last year when the New Zealander put up a new world record of 4 minutes, 46.2 seconds.

Bonthron, too, was inside the 5-minute mark in the 1000-yard race, and there will be one difference. On the comparatively slow White City track neither Lovelock or Bonthron are expected to put up a particularly fast time, certainly not a new record. Experts here, rather tend to the opinion that Bonthron will win.

Salinas Rodeo Held July 26-29 Hundreds of Cowboys and Girls Are Signing Up For Contests

Leading cowboys of the West, including champions in all classes, are signing up for the California Rodeo and Horse Fair at Salinas, July 26 to 29, the big western rodeo of the year. Some of the toughest, buckingest and "rarin'-to-go" horses and steers of the world will also be there to give the cowboys a few lessons on how not to "stay put."

The daily parade of cowboys and cowgirls will be one of the big events of the four-day show. There will be hundreds of 'em displaying their mounts and themselves to admiring thousands.

Two of the new features are a beef bull auction sale and a saddle horse sale. Both these features have been urged by cattlemen and horsemen of California. Some of the most prominent stock breeders of the state are shipping in their bulls and saddle horses for these two events.

Hunters Must Show Stamp On License The postoffice department has just begun the issuance of a migratory bird stamp, at $1 each, revenue from which, will go to the treasury department for the support of bird refuges and breeding grounds. Each hunter will be required to show one of these stamps affixed to his hunting license. Detailed information concerning the requirements may be secured at the postoffice.

SPORT SHOTS

By Virgil Pinckney U. P. Staff Correspondent

PORTLAND, Ore. (U.P.)—Pacific coast sport shots: Fay Thomas, big right-handed speed ball pitcher of the Los Angeles Pacific Coast League Club, was a star tackle for Southern California in collegiate days. His dazzling speed and excellent control have carried him to 22 consecutive wins.

Don Moze, "Baby" member of the 1930 Walker Cup team, was defeated 3 to 1 in the Pacific Northwest Amateur Golf Championship. The tournament was his first in two years. Don is an attorney.

When slender Jack Rand, San Diego State College pole vaulter, cleared 14 feet, 1 1/2 inches to win the N.C.A.A.A. and establish a new mark for the meet, it was the first time he ever vaulted 11 feet. His victory removed the former record of 13 feet, 11.6 inches held jointly by William Graber, Southern California, and Matt Gordy, Louisiana State.

Dean Cromwell has what promises to be a championship track and field team at Southern California next year. Few of the varsity members who gave the Trojans second place in the N.C.A.A.A. meet graduated. In addition, Cromwell gets a 14-foot pole vaulter, a 1:42 half miler, a good hurdler and several promising sprint stars from the freshman team.

Bob Farke, University of Oregon, winner of the N.C.A.A.A. javelin throw, will bark signals for the Webfoot this fall.

J. Millard Campbell, one of the pitchers who helped Los Angeles score an easy victory in the first of the Pacific Coast baseball league, is another diamond product of the University of Alabama.

Twenty of the 66 victories scored by the Athletics went by one-run margins.

Gene Lillard, 20, third baseman for the Los Angeles league leading Los Angeles, has eliminated thick hip muscle troubles. Last winter he reported daily to Dean Cromwell, University of Southern California track coach, for lessons in sprinting starts and a course of exercises designed to loosen his hip muscles.

Torrance Ball Team Loses Two Games The Torrance Recreational ball team, sponsored by the American Legion, lost to Gardena, Saturday, July 14, by a score of 14-2. The game was played at Gardena, and the locals from that city were a little too much for the home boys.

On Tuesday, July 17, the Recreational team played Redondo Beach here and lost again, this time, 10-5. Battery for Torrance was Williams and Gilbert, for Redondo Beach Mott and Croes.

Homer By Nady Wins Ball Game For Kiwanis Jrs.

Timely Hit With Bases Loaded in Tenth Scores Winning Runs

One of the best games of the season was played at the municipal ball park last Monday night when the Torrance Kiwanis Juniors met the Flying A's of Long Beach. The game was a thriller all the way through and went into extra innings.

The Kiwanis Juniors went into the seventh inning trailing by one run but they tied the score at five all. In the first half of the eighth the Long Beach team went ahead by scoring two runs and it looked bad for the local boys. However, Long, pitching for the Flying A's, blew up and before he could be taken out of the box he had walked two men. Two singles followed and Nady replaced him.

Tom Nady then lamed one out past the right fielder and the ball game was over.

About two hundred fans saw the game and the last-inning enthusiasm would have done Wrigley Field proud.
